2023-2024

- Students were given the questionnaire and the data related to their feedback were collected. Student have responded that the complete syllabus was covered in the class well before the exams(100%). This suggests that the teaching methods are effective in delivering the required material.

Teachers' preparation for the classes

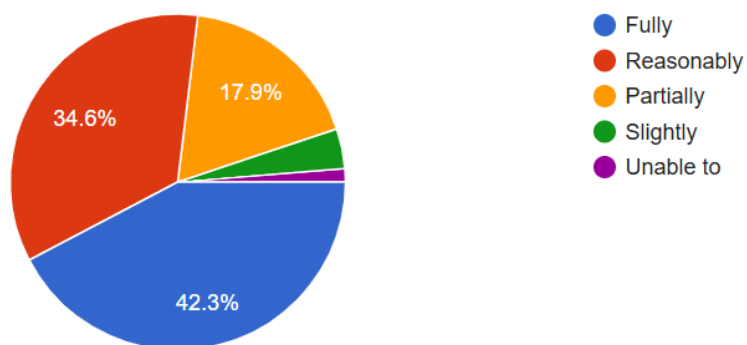

- An majority of the Students (94%) have responded that teachers prepare before they come to class. Based on the information provided, we can infer some points regarding teacher preparation for classes. Since 94% of students responded positively about teachers' preparation, it indicates a very high level of appreciation for their efforts. This suggests a well-structured and organised educational environment.
- From the response provided by the students, it appears that a significant majority of the students have a positive perception of the teacher's approach. Here's a breakdown of the responses:
  - Very Good: 50% of students described the teacher's approach as very good.
  - Excellent: 27% of students rated the teacher's approach as excellent.

- The Student Satisfaction Survey found that 88% of students believe teachers are fair in evaluating internal examinations, while 12% feel the evaluation is unfair.
- Students in the Department of Social work has agreed that teachers take active interest in promoting, field visit and field work. Teachers leverage field visits to help students build connections with local NGOs, communities, or organizations, further enriching their learning experience.
- Further, the Survey reveals that 24% of the students feel that the teaching and mentoring facilitates them in cognitive, social and emotional growth significantly , while 50% believe that is very well.

The rest of the students 21% perceive it facilitates moderately and very less perceive it the teaching and mentoring facilitates moderately.

- The students (96%) agree that teachers always or consistently provide examples and applications in their teaching, while 4% responded that the teachers do it occasionally.
- Many students believe teachers play an important role in identifying their strengths and weaknesses.

Teachers often assess students' abilities through assignments, tests, and classroom interactions, allowing them to provide constructive feedback and guidance.

- Almost all the students believe that most teachers encourage extracurricular activities because they offer students opportunities for personal growth, skill development, and social interaction.

- The fact that a majority of students agreed that teachers used LCD projectors appropriately suggests that the teachers were able to engage the students effectively during lessons using ICT tools. This implies that the teachers were able to convey the material in an understandable manner.
- A significant majority of the students i.e., 85%, have expressed Satisfaction with the quality of the teaching-learning process the college, rating it as "very good." The remaining students have shown a neutral stance, meaning they neither agree nor disagree strongly with this assessment
